

REGULAR SESSION
(May 08, 2018)

Tuesday

2:30 PM

The regular session of the Wyoming County Board of Supervisors was held at the Wyoming County Government Center in the Board of Supervisors' Chambers located at 143 North Main Street, Warsaw, New York with all Supervisors present except D. Tallman, T/Gainesville and B. Becker, T/Sheldon. Also present were County Attorney Jim Wujcik, Budget Officer, Janis Cook; Clerk to the Board of Supervisors, Cheryl Ketchum and Deputy Clerk to the Board, Lisa Perez.

At 2:35 PM Chairman Berwanger, T/Arcade, called the meeting to order.

The Veteran leading the Pledge of Allegiance for this month's board meeting is:

Charles Schoonover

Mr. Charles Schoonover graduated from York Central School in 1986 and in the fall attended Corning Community College focusing on criminal justice. In December of 1987, he enlisted in the United States Army and completed 13 weeks of basic training at Fort Hood, Missouri. After Basic, he was assigned to Fort Huachuca in Arizona for counter intelligence training. This 22-week duty assignment taught Mr. Schoonover undercover and investigation procedures and counter espionage. Fort Huachuca was established on March 3, 1877 and from 1913 to 1933, was the base for the "Buffalo Soldiers" of the 10th Cavalry Regiment.

Mr. Schoonover was then assigned to Fort Bragg, North Carolina where his job was to train special units such as Delta Force and Foreign Service officers for embassy duty counter intelligence. He often performed on a level very similar to the secret service agency. Fort Bragg is named for Confederate General Braxton Bragg and is the largest military installation in the world (by population) with more than 50,000 active duty personnel.

In 1990, Mr. Schoonover was assigned overseas during the Gulf War, first known as Desert Shield and later called Desert Storm. Mr. Schoonover was assigned to 18th Airborne Corps and his job was to gather all information from behind enemy lines. This intelligence gathering helped with military maneuvers and laser guided smart bombs. His team was responsible for verifying the accuracy of information received before transmitted for future actions.

During the 100-hour ground war in Iraq (Desert Storm), Mr. Schoonover gathered information on all armed forces, tanks and electronics intelligence, passing that information to the Sensitive Compartmented Information Facility known as SCIF. He also worked at the Dhahran Air Base in Saudi Arabia vetting people for security clearance.

Mr. Schoonover was honorably discharged in May of 1991. For his valor and courageous service to his country, Mr. Schoonover was awarded the:

- M16 Sharp Shooter Badge
- Service Ribbon

- Good Conduct Medal
- Army Lapel Button
- Southwest Asia Service Medal with two Bronze Stars
- Achievement Medal
- Commendation Medal
- National Defense Service Medal

Mr. Schoonover then returned home to family in Warsaw, went back to college at Genesee Community College and received an Associate's Degree in Criminal Justice in 1992.

Mr. Schoonover has worked in many different fields, from restaurant management to being a Federal Mine Safety and Health Administration Inspector for 7 years. Currently he is part of Rochester Custom Storage Systems that specializes in warehouse facilities.

Mr. Schoonover lives in the town of Gainesville and has four children. He spends his free time with the Vietnam Veterans Legacy Motorcycle Club helping people who struggle every day. He is very proud of the emblem that represents the club -- a soldier kneeling in black and red.

The pledge was said by all.

Mr. Schoonover thanked the Board for their hard work and in being asked to lead the pledge...

There was a brief interruption of the meeting as attending press took pictures.

American History: Our Hope Erin Byers
for The Future

Hendershott Maness Post #374
Arcade, NY

There's a famous old saying that, "history repeats itself." Time and time again, this has proven to be true. Historical patterns seem to come around in cycles, fading in and out of generations as the context changes. One pattern prevalent in every era of American history is persistence through challenges.

In the 1700s, Americans persevered while oppressed by a monarchy imposing unjust treatments on them. In the 1800s, the issue of slavery was brought to center stage as African Americans were struggling to be seen as human. In the 1900s, American women succeeded in their fight for equality with the 19th Amendment to the Constitution, which finally granted them the right to vote.

These scenarios put Americans in the face of oppression, unjust treatment, or conflict; but in true American fashion, our fellow citizens fought back and defeated their adversary. Historically, Americans have made great strides of progress in times of oppression. The American spirit drives citizens to thrive when pressured, and the outcomes have been groundbreaking. Looking back, we can learn from this trend. Americans have never been cowardly, we have always stood our ground and fought for a more perfect union. Today, there are countless new problems Americans must face. Whether domestic or foreign; local or national; personal or public; every single one of these issues matter. By being able to understand our past- and use it to move forward- none of these issues are un-conquerable. Looking towards the future, we need to take the ever-present American spirit, and use it to oppose whatever obstacle stands in our way.

Think of the colonists at the outbreak of the American Revolution. Lining up for battle against the world's strongest military was no easy feat. The men and women who fought in the Revolution lived every day fearful of what the next would bring. Though America had yet to establish itself as a real country, the American spirit lay within every single member of the original 13 colonies. Their determination and relentlessness eventually tired the British, and inspired the founding fathers to synthesize perhaps the greatest democratic document in all of history: The United States Constitution.

Now, think of the slaves in the 1800s. Disheartened with their lowly status in society and unfair treatment, they stood up for their rights as Americans. Though it was made clear that they were the inferior race, they fought for equality, and achieved it many years later with the 13th Amendment. Their belief in fairness and opportunity has impacted this country in countless ways, and since then, African Americans have used their voices to maintain equality and continue the fight for what's right.

Look to the women of American history- of no time period in particular- just every single one. Their never-ending fight for rights and equality proves to be one of the most groundbreaking and influential movements of all time. Helping with every war, demanding just treatment of immigrants, defending minorities in times of need, feeding and providing for families: American women are the backbone to everything American. Their drive and intelligence has put us on the moon, discovered cures for diseases, ran for President, and much more. American women, even when oppressed, refuse to give up.

All three groups are examples of Americans who've faced oppression or unfairness, and used it as a motive to thrive. No matter what challenge you are facing- from a minor family feud to fighting for your rights- it can be conquered. Yes, history repeats itself. And as Americans, we all have the choice to ignore history and refuse to learn from it, or understand its lessons and patterns, and use them to achieve greatness- like we always do.

Chairman Berwanger thanked Ms. Beyers and presented her with a Certificate of Recognition.

Before moving on Chairman Berwanger recognized two more individuals. Norm Uhteg, Erin's Grandfather, from the Erie County Town of Sardinia and Ron Ashworth who accompanied Mr. Connelly to today's meeting and was recognized by the Chairman as the individual that nominated him to Senator Gallivan as a potential candidate.
