DUTIES: Employees in this class work at an advanced professional level in a local probation agency. They are responsible for more complex assignments and more difficult case evaluations in intake, investigation and supervision activities than those assigned to regular Probation Officers. Employees in this class work under general supervision of a higher-ranking professional employee, with more independence of action than that granted Probation Officers.

Subjects of examination: A written test designed to evaluate knowledge, skills and /or abilities in the following areas:

1. Case supervision

These questions present descriptions of problems and situations in employee-supervisor or employee-client relationships typically encountered in the supervision of employees who deal with client caseloads. The situations and/or problems presented will include, but not necessarily be limited to, (1) administrative issues such as planning and assigning cases, (2) developing employees' competence in casework through discussion of problem cases, and (3) helping employees deal with job-related stress.

2. Educating and interacting with the public

These questions test for knowledge of techniques used to interact effectively with individual citizens and/or community groups, to educate or inform them about topics of concern, to publicize or clarify agency programs or policies, to negotiate conflicts or resolve complaints, and to represent one's agency or program in a manner in keeping with good public relations practices. Questions may also cover interacting with others in cooperative efforts of public outreach or service.

3. Preparing written material

These questions test for the ability to present information clearly and accurately, and to organize paragraphs logically and comprehensibly. For some questions, you will be given information in two or three sentences followed by four restatements of the information. You must then choose the best version. For other questions, you will be given paragraphs with their sentences out of order. You must then choose, from four suggestions, the best order for the sentences.

4. Probation casework supervision

Questions may be presented as hypothetical case histories of offenders and/or descriptions of situations typically encountered by the probation professional which require the application of casework and/or casework supervision principles, in some instances incorporating relevant procedures, laws, rules or regulations.

5. Probation programs and services, including trends and developments, laws, rules and regulations

These questions test for the candidates' knowledge of laws, rules and regulations relevant to probation and understanding of current trends and developments in probation programs and services with emphasis on pre-trial procedures, sentencing and sentencing alternatives and probation service and service delivery.

6. Supervision

These questions test for knowledge of the principles and practices employed in planning, organizing, and controlling the activities of a work unit toward predetermined objectives. The concepts covered, usually in a situational question format, include such topics as assigning and reviewing work; evaluating performance; maintaining work standards; motivating and developing subordinates; implementing procedural change; increasing efficiency; and dealing with problems of absenteeism, morale, and discipline.

Candidates are permitted to use quiet, hand-held, solar or battery powered calculators. Devices with typewriter keyboards, "Spell Checkers," personal digital assistants, address books, language translators, dictionaries, or any similar devices are prohibited.
